

ENTREPRENEURSHIP IN 2020: NEW MEXICO SNAPSHOT

Entrepreneurship is important for job creation, innovation, and the economy. This brief provides a snapshot of various indicators related to early-stage entrepreneurial activity in New Mexico.

How many people are becoming entrepreneurs?

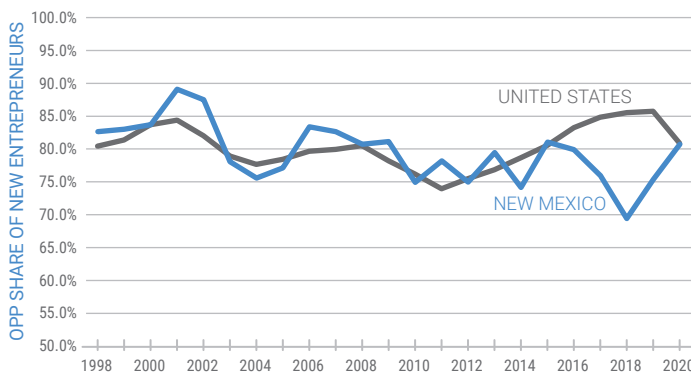

Since 2012, the rate of new entrepreneurs in New Mexico has been above the national rate.

In New Mexico, the rate of new entrepreneurs in 2020 was 0.51%, meaning that 5.1 out of every 1,000 adults became new entrepreneurs, on average, in a given month. This compares to 0.34% nationally.

How many new entrepreneurs created their business out of opportunity?

In recent years, the opportunity share of new entrepreneurs has been lower in New Mexico compared to the rest of the nation.

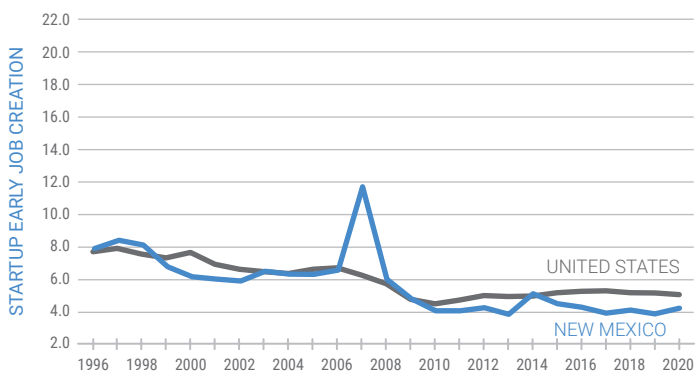

The opportunity share of new entrepreneurs was 80.8% in New Mexico in 2020, compared to 80.9% nationally.

How many jobs are created by new businesses?

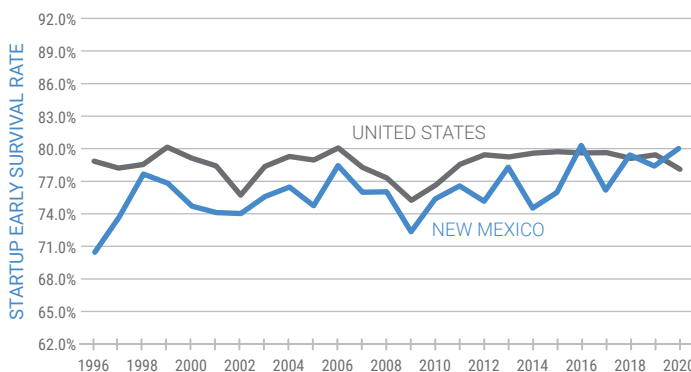

In recent years, the number of jobs created by startups in New Mexico has been below the national level.

There were 4.2 jobs created by startups per 1,000 people in New Mexico in 2020, compared to 5.0 jobs created by startups at the national level.

How many businesses survive their first year?

In recent years, the share of startups that survive at least one year in New Mexico has been similar to the national level.

In 2020, 80.1% of startups in New Mexico survived at least one year, compared to 78.1% of startups at the national level.

ABOUT THE DATA: Each of the indicators presented above come from the Kauffman Early-Stage Entrepreneurship Indicators. The rate of new entrepreneurs and the opportunity share of new entrepreneurs are calculated using 3-year moving averages. Startup early job creation and startup early survival rates are based on data from March 2020, and do not reflect the full effects of the pandemic. To learn more about trends in entrepreneurship in New Mexico, as well as the rest of the United States, visit indicators.kauffman.org

This is a publication of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation utilizing content and data from multiple sources and external contributors. Every effort has been made to verify the accuracy of the information contained herein and is believed to be correct as of the publication date. Nonetheless, this material is for informational purposes, and you are solely responsible for validating the applicability and accuracy of the information in any use you make of it.